
Protocols differ, including feature precision. Paper variability is not a confidence interval for our runs.
Single-seed results do not establish statistically significant improvement.